Character names

- Garrett - Jason Momoa
- Henry - Sebastian Hansen
- Natalie - Emma Myers
- Dawn - Danielle Brooks
- Principal - Jennifer Coolidge (obviously)

Minecraft Legends

- Cancelled a few months after release (largely considered a flop)
- The movie's storyline seems to be roughly based on the events of Legends
- Animation takes a long time, so the movie's current script could have been written while Legends was still in development, with Mojang figuring it would be a success like Dungeons

Return of the Piglins

- Released alongside Legends as a tie-in novel
- Written by Matt Forbek, writer of the Rise of the Arch-Illager
- Takes place in the 'modern' Minecraft (instead of prehistoric like Legends)
- Forbek didn't know that his book was non-canon until after writing it
- Stars a hero named Farnum who teams up with disgraced Piglin advisor Kritten

(Mention that everything that follows is exclusive to Bedrock)

Bedrock Live Event *

- Will be over by the time the episode is released
- Based in Midport Village
- The cross-platform 'Yearn' cape could be earned after completing 5 daily challenges, like the office party event & MCC over the summer
- Notably, Boots of Swiftness from Minecraft Dungeons could be earned as a character creator item for the day one challenge
- Used many of the features of the Minecraft Movie add-on, coming from the same devs

Minecraft Movie DLC *

- Bedrock map featuring 3 minigames loosely based on scenes from the movie
- Play through their first night, the elytra glide, and sneaking through the Woodland Mansion for the Earth Crystal

Minecraft Movie Addon *

- Adds a wide range of Piglin variants which could be encountered during the live event
- These new Piglins can survive in the overworld if given nether wart or an awkward potion (being a base potion also made from nether wart)

- Nether wart has been seen across various media to be able to prevent Piglin zombification (MCL Spore Spreaders, also referenced directly in the tie-in novel & seen surrounding the Piglin merchant found in the Overworld of Minecraft Dungeons.
- Custom weapons & crafting recipes added
- One such recipe is the red mushroom cap, which just like the Fandango jetpack could be unlocked as a purely cosmetic character creator item as one of the daily rewards for the live event

Fandango Jetpack Addon

- Given to anyone who bought a ticket for opening night via Fandango
- Craftable, but given to the player automatically upon first joining the world
- Pretty good quality, I had fun with it (although it unintentionally? removed the ability to jump when equipped, replacing the basic jump with a slower strafe. It also completely overrides creative mode flying, making it impossible to switch from one flying method to the other while the jetpack is equipped)
- Shares the exact same texture with the jetpack character creator item that could be unlocked as part of the movie's live event challenge

Lava Chicken Addon

- First in-game promotion released
- Craftable, but also given to the player automatically when they first join the world
- Causes player to run uncontrollably from the heat, playing a whistling kettle sound effect & leaving a trail of fire behind them.

Hero's Skin Pack

- Free marketplace skin pack that only includes the 5 main protagonists

McDonald's Addon

- Released as a promotion for the movie, despite not containing any actual references to the film itself
- Required the purchase of an 'Adult Happy Meal' through the McDonald's mobile
- Adds McDonald's-related mobs, items & 4 new paintings
- (KINDA UNRELATED) The Adult Happy Meal comes with higher quality collectibles compared to the kid's meal toys, with each of the 6 collectibles coming with their own McDonald's-related Bedrock skin codes

Aotearoa New Zealand

- Includes Education-Edition style map, as well as a skin pack
- Released as a promotion for the movie due to it being shot in New Zealand, despite neither the map nor the skin pack containing any direct references to the film
- Play the role of a filmmaker looking for areas to shoot in (presumably for the Minecraft Movie)
